

While you are in the hospital the doctors and nurses will run tests and keep checking to see if you are getting better. They will listen to your heartbeat with a stethoscope.